Trustees Give Approval For New Building

Four-story Structure Will
Be Erected at 2027-31
G Street, N. W.

WILL COST $125,000

Registrar's Office, Buildings I, J, to Be Demolished to Make Room

Formal approval for the construction of a four-story building, costing $125,000, to be located at 2027-31 G street, was given by the board of trustees at a meeting last week.

Planning to have the new structure ready for occupancy in February, the Registrar's office and buildings I and J will be demolished within the next two weeks in order to make way for the new building designed by C. E. Merry, assistant to the Comptroller.

Concrete Construction
The building, 78.5' x 101' with an over-all height of 63', will be constructed of poured concrete, painted white, to conform with other University structures.

The first floor will accommodate offices for the dean of Columbian College, the dean of the Junior College, the registrar, and the graduate council, in addition to two large classrooms seating 125 each.

Classrooms Included
Seven classrooms will occupy the second floor, three with a seating capacity of 75 each, and four with 100 each. A biological science laboratory and reading room, and offices and laboratories of the zoology department will take up the third floor, while research and teaching laboratories for the botany and biology departments will occupy the fourth floor.

A special feature of the structure will be a photograph laboratory and men's lounge built in the basement, and a greenhouse on the roof for botany specimens.

Dr. Donnell B. Young, professor of zoology, will be used in the building.

Council Names Award Deadline

Biological Science Fellowship Awarded to Research Scholars

Applications for National Research Fellowships in the biological sciences must be in the hands of the National Research Council by February 1.

Fellowship awards are restricted to persons in the early stages of research careers who have demonstrated a high order of ability, the research board says.

The awards, the winners of which will be announced April 1, offer a basic stipend of $1,620 per year for unmarried candidates, and $2,070 for married applicants for study in America. Foreign travel allowance for European research is $1,620 additional for single men, and $2,160 extra for married fellows.

Awards are made for one year in the fields of zoology, botany, anthropology, psychology, agriculture, and forestry. Fellowships may be renewed.

Annual Staff Will Meet Tonight at 8 O'clock

The first general meeting of the Cherry Tree staff will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Cherry Tree office, Betty Bacon, editor of the Cherry Tree, announced.

The entire staff, except the art section, has been requested to attend.

'Handsome Dave' Is Victimized By Silent Car Taker-Awayer

By "Wild Bill" Corley
The crime of the century has been committed! The University Hatchet staff car has been made off with, thus causing the editorial staff of that activity great embarrassment and annoyance.

The auto, a 1925 Buick, was the property of "Handsome Dave" Apter, proofreader, key reporter, and general handy man of The Hatchet staff. Apter had parked his car in front of The Hatchet office Sunday night upon arriving for work. Later he and "Hot Time Charlie" Hallam, another staff member, left the office for dinner.

To save gas they walked to the restaurant. Upon returning they found that the result of their journey was that the car was gone. When Hallam suggested that Dave take a look down at the transportation division of the old National Museum, Dave replied with unmentionable language, and set out for the third precinct station house.

Pierson Proposes Plan To Put Activities On Efficient Basis

Council Head Calls Activity Leaders Together With Alpha Kappa Psi; to Formulate Plans and Records

Representatives of nine major campus organizations will meet with a committee of Alpha Kappa Psi, commerce and business fraternity, at 8:15 tonight in the Acacia house, under the leadership of Ted Pierson, president of the Student Council, the purpose of which is to discuss a proposed plan for placing their records on a more business-like basis.

The plan, as outlined by Pierson Sunday, calls for the joint fulfillment of Alpha Kappa Psi's need for an annual research project and the need of the activities for a more complete and efficient system of recording methods of organization, production, and publicity, and their results as reflected by the financial situation.

Turnover Rapid
Pierson pointed out that the turnover in activities membership is so rapid that officers cannot benefit from the experience of their predecessors of more than two or three years before. He said that the total moneys handled by the groups in question—Cue and Curtain, Troubadours, Glee Clubs, Fiesta, and the four classes—amounts to probably $10,000 each year, and that no business concern of a like size could be efficiently maintained without a most complete and complex filing system.

The meeting of activities representatives and business students is being held to formally introduce the project to the groups concerned, most of whom have already informally expressed themselves to be in sympathy with it.

Baullknight Chairman
Fred Baullknight has been made chairman of the A. K. Psi committee, and Floyd Sparks, Sam Futrowsky, and Walter Rhinehart are expected to serve with him, representatives.

Christmas Food Drive Transfers To New Building

Heads Announce Equipment, Packing Plan; Many Letters Received

"At home after December 11, 2005 G street," is the phrase suggested by the announcement from Food Drive headquarters in Building O to the effect that the organization's new office is now furnished, and will be occupied beginning tomorrow.

Milton H. Sufin, office director of the Drive, made it known yesterday that the building allotted was ready for occupancy, even to the installation of its equipment, including typewriters, stationery, and an elaborate filing system for recording every contribution made.

Storage Room Furnished
The portion of the building set aside for storing contributions is also fully equipped with boxes, shelves, and bins for the classification of the food, Sufin said.

One more unit of the Drive went into action last week, when the distribution forces, under the direction of Everett Strandell, aided in the delivery of circular letters to various alumni organizations.

Strandell, when asked for an explanation of the functions of his unit, stated that its real work will not start until the night of Wednesday, December 19, when the packing process begins. He said, however, that from that time until late Christmas Eve, there will be very little rest for the distribution unit.

Boxing Moved Up
Charles Stofberg, who is in charge of arrangements for the Food Drive benefit boxing show, stated last night that, due to the impossibility of obtaining the use of the University gymnasium for December 15, the show would be held on Thursday of this week, December 13. He said that Edgar

President Marvin Plans Trip West

Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin will leave Saturday for California, where he will join Mrs. Marvin and Cloyd, Jr., for the Christmas holidays. Mrs. Marvin was detained in Los Angeles this winter during her son's recovery, from an illness.

President Marvin will motor to Los Angeles with Dr. Verling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction of California.

Yearbook Offers Awards to First Groups Pictured

Photo Deadline January 15; 50c Additional Cost After That Time

Five dollars from the cost of their page in the Cherry Tree will be rewarded to the first fraternity and the first sorority to have 80 percent of their active and pledge members photographed for the yearbook, Betty Bacon, editor, announced Sunday night.

The deadline for all photographs will be January 15, the board decided. Any pictures taken after this time will cost an additional fifty cents, making a total cost of two dollars and fifty cents.

As an added convenience to students who attend night school, it has been arranged that Casson's, at 1305 Connecticut avenue, will be open from 8 to 10 p. m. on Saturday, December 15, and Saturday, December 22.

Holt Emphasizes Youth's Influence

West Virginia Senator Elect Addresses High School Conference

Speaking at the luncheon Thursday which closed the two-day conference of high school students sponsored by the Public Speaking Department, Rush D. Holt, West Virginia's 29-year-old Senator-elect, emphasized the importance of the part which youth plays in moulding the Nation's future.

"Young people are naturally progressive. Youth will go on untrodden paths, while age follows the old, easy, simple way," he said. "Youth should not allow age to dominate its thought. Listen, but do not always follow. Think for yourselves," he continued.

The question under consideration at the conference was whether the Federal Government should make annual grants to States for public elementary and secondary education in order to equalize educational opportunity. Dr. William John Cooper, professor of education, upheld the proposal for Federal aid, while the Rev. Dr. George Johnson, assistant professor of education at Catholic University, spoke in opposition to such a policy.

The conference formally recognized present inequality of educational opportunity, but expressed the view that education is purely a local problem and should not be sustained from Federal funds.

Play First Radio Drama On Sunday

The first presentation of the University student radio players group—"The Man Who Built a World," a student written play based on the life of Simon Bolivar, George Washington of Bolivia—will be on the air at 9:45 p. m. Sunday, over station WMAL.

The lead and cast have not been finally decided upon. Rehearsals will be held Thursday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Members of Prof. Douglas Benment's creative writing classes have already begun writing of script for the second production, tentatively scheduled for January. It will deal with the African expedition of Harry Martin Stanley in search of Dr. Livingston.

Basketers Open Schedule Tonight With Shenandoah

Colonials to Oppose Randolph-Macon Thursday; Geneva to Play Sat.

With the finest pre-season prospects in five years, the Colonial basketball team opens its schedule tonight at 8 p. m., opposing Shenandoah.

Head Coach Pixlee and Roland Logan, his chief assistant, have such an abundance of good material on hand that they hesitate to name the starting line-up. Captain Jimmy Howell seems a sure starter and although the majority of last season's team are on hand, many new faces are promised.

Line-Up Unsettled
However, a good clicking combination has not been found. If the game develops the proportions of a rout, the whole team will participate.

Shenandoah has not had much success against George Washington in previous years. In the two games played by the teams, the Virginians have scored 28 points each time to 54 and 66 for the Buff and Blue.

Meet Geneva Saturday
Following on Shenandoah's heels will be Randolph-Macon, also from Virginia. The Yellow Jackets are not well known but may spring a surprise if G. W. becomes overconfident.

The last opponent this week will be Geneva. This fray will be George Washington's first real test. Though the Colonials defeated them 44-34 last year, the Covenanters went ahead to wade through the Tri-State Conference and cop the title. Included in this conference is Duquesne, 1932 conqueror of George Washington.

Kappa Kappa Psi Pledges Five Men

Corley, Cross, Klavens, McCoy, McReynolds Honored Last Night

Five outstanding members of the University Band were pledged to Kappa Kappa Psi, national honorary band fraternity, following a rehearsal last evening. Election to the organization is based upon service to the band and other University musical activities.

Those pledged were: William Corley, student director of the band; Sydney Cross, a clarinetist of two years' experience; Elmer Klavens, solo clarinetist for the past three years, and now in his second year as head drum major; Charles McCoy, now his second year as a trombonist; and Jack McReynolds, a player in the drum section for a year and a half.

Dean Schedler, president of Kappa Kappa Psi, announced at the same meeting that the George Washington chapter will enter both group and individual competition with other chapters for awards to be made by the fraternity.

Chapel to Feature Christmas Music

Christmas music to be given by the combined Glee Clubs under the leadership of Dr. Robert Harmon, director, will be featured at the regular chapel meeting at noon Friday in Corcoran 10.

At chapel services last Friday, the challenge to the student voiced by Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, was "Live by what you do not accept, not by what you do not accept."

Chapel was sponsored by the Westminster Presbyterian club. The program, arranged by Walter Bird, president of the organization, included the Westminster club quartette. The speaker was introduced by Dr. Raymond J. Seeger, assistant professor of physics.

Glee Club to Sing Over Radio Chain

The Men's Glee Club will present a coast to coast broadcast over NBC next Saturday at 1 p. m., as a feature of the National Grange Hour. It will be heard locally over station WMAL.

A picked group from the combined Glee Clubs will sing before a meeting of the Political Study Club, at 1701 K Street the same afternoon. Again on Saturday, the same group will be featured at the O. D. K. banquet at the Willard.

Morris, Alumnus, Elected To Montana Court Bench

Claude Frank Morris, of the Law Class of 1902, was elected to the bench of the Supreme Court of Montana last month. Judge Morris is a native of Mexico, Mo., and after practicing law in Harve, Mont., became assistant attorney general of the State, and held that office until the time of his nomination and election to the State Supreme Court.

Band To Supply Section To Play At Home Games

For the first time since its formation, the University Band will supply a group to play at the basketball games, when the new "Pep Band" will appear at home basketball games this season. Under the direction of William Corley, student director of the band, a group of about twenty musicians will play school songs, marches, and other light numbers.

Other future plans for the University Band include a possible spring concert to be given in Washington, and a concert tour to Fredericksburg, Winchester, Cumberland, and other nearby localities to interest high school students in George Washington.

Panhellenic Leaves Sorority Initiation Rules Unchanged

Nine Hours' Work Is Required; Summer School Grades Not Counted

Nine hours' work and the counting of only February and June grades will continue to be requirements for sorority initiation, it was decided at the meeting of the Panhellenic Association last Tuesday.

This decision was made after a discussion on the possibility of substituting six hours for the required nine hours, and of counting summer school grades in ascertaining eligibility for initiation.

Delegates Given Questions
At the previous meeting each delegate was asked to present three questions to her sorority for consideration. First: Should a girl be permitted to average her summer school grades with the grades of the previous semester if she had not taken enough hours the previous semester for initiation?

Second: Should a girl be permitted to average her summer school grades with the grades of the previous semester if she has taken enough hours the previous semester but has not made a satisfactory average?

Third: Should six semester hours be substituted for nine hours as an initiation requirement?

Junior Panel Formed
Except for Zeta Tau Alpha, the sororities were unanimous in their rejection of the proposed plan. At the time of this meeting, a Junior Panhellenic Association was organized to consider rushing problems with the pledge groups. Ruth Yanovsky, Delta Zeta, was elected president and Katherine Riley, Kappa Delta, secretary-treasurer.

Mary Louise Yach was chosen chairman of the Panhellenic prom to be given in March at the Willard Hotel. She will be assisted by Jane Hughes, Sigma Kappa, and Ruth McNary, Pi Beta Phi.

Food Drive Bouts In Gym Thursday

Saugstad, Prather, Among Sixteen Fighting in Charity Matches

The Christmas Food Drive benefit boxing show, tentatively scheduled in last week's Hatchet for Saturday, has been finally set for Thursday of this week, Charles Stofberg announced last night.

Eddie Saugstad, featherweight boxing champion of the University, will be one of the fighters on the card. It is probable that Dale Prather, amateur heavyweight champion of the District, and another G. W. student, will also take part. The remainder of the program has been tentatively arranged by representatives of the newspapers who are sponsoring the show, but names could not be released last night pending the settlement of necessary details.

Stofberg gave as reason for the change the fact that the use of the University gym could not be obtained for Saturday, due to the varsity basketball game with Randolph-Macon there that night.

Admission to the bouts, which start at 8:30, will be by a contribution to the Food Drive of 40 cents or any larger amount students may wish to give. Tickets are being sold in the Publications Office, 2016 H street, and will also be sold at the door of the gym Thursday night.

Asst. Sec. of State Talks to Inter-American Classes

Sumner Welles, Assistant Secretary of State, discussed "Inter-American Relations" before the class in current Hispanic-American last night. Mr. Welles, a former Ambassador to Cuba has won the regard of Latin American countries through his knowledge of their problems.

Miller To Be Speaker, Kayser Toastmaster, At O. D. K. Banquet

O. D. K. Speaker

Justin Miller, special assistant to the attorney general and dean of Duke University Law School, will be the speaker of the evening, and Dr. Elmer Louis Kayser, dean of University students will be toastmaster at the Omicron Delta Kappa banquet at the Willard Hotel Saturday night.

Mr. Miller is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa's national committee on scholastic awards, and was formerly dean of the Law School of the University of Southern California.

Among the guests of honor at the banquet will be Senator Harry Flood Byrd of Virginia, Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, Dr. G. W. Mead, president of Washington College, Judge Gustav Schramm, of Pittsburgh, and probably Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Statesmen Members
All of these men are honorary members of the fraternity. Senator Byrd having been initiated by the chapter at Washington and Lee University, and Attorney General Cummings, at the University of Pittsburgh. Secretary Hull was initiated by the local chapter last year.

It is notable that this banquet is not a purely local affair but is being given by the Alpha Delta Circle in honor of the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the fraternity as a whole.

Delegates are expected to be present from chapters located at the University of Maryland, Dickinson College, Johns Hopkins University, Washington and Lee, Williams College, and the University of Richmond, and the University of Sydney.

Helvestine Gives Welcome
The address of welcome will be delivered by William Helvestine, president of the George Washington chapter. Dr. Kayser will introduce the guests of honor.

Entertainment will be furnished by a saxophone quartet of the University Band, it was announced by John Bracken, chairman of the banquet committee. Immediately preceding the banquet an initiation will be held for the eleven men who were tapped last Tuesday.

Functions Banned For Junior Prom

Certified Co-ops Will Be Honored at Dance Friday Night

Fraternity and sorority social functions of all kinds will be banned Friday in order to provide a closed night for the Junior Prom, Theodore Pierson, president of the Student Council, announced Sunday.

Co-op books may be used for the dance, but must be certified this week to be valid. Certification will take place in the Cue and Curtain office, Building S, each day between 12 and 7 p. m.

Office records will be used in checking books, a complete list of all Co-op book owners now being available. Books will be certified as to classes, and no person not owning a book certified as "junior" will be admitted to the prom.

All juniors in the University, and students in the Law and Medical schools that are not listed as seniors, will be certified as juniors and will be eligible to attend the dance.

Corcoran Hall Is Scene of Gay International Student Program

Flags of 26 Latin countries transformed Corcoran Hall into a colorful scene of international interest Friday night, for the presentation of "Latin Night" by the International Students Society. Over 350 guests attended, including students, faculty members, distinguished guests from the Pan-American Union, and members of the diplomatic corps.

Dances by Lisa Gardiner, formerly with the Anna Pavlova Ballet, and Eda Vomacka; musical selections by Mme. Elsa Koppel, Helen Spasoff, Cayetano Nagac, and Sophocles Pappas' Columbian Mandolin and guitar orchestra; and a recitation by Anna Bodoni were included in the evening's entertainment.

The Food Drive

"It is more blessed to give than receive," runs an adage familiar to all.

Unlike most "famous sayings" we are able to put this particular one to a practical test. In fact all of us have done so many times before; and each of us has become convinced of the truth of the statement.

In the current Food Drive, being conducted under the auspices of The Hatchet and Student Council, students and faculty members have an opportunity to make a contribution to the needy where they, the ones who give, can actually see the good they are doing.

We believe that most people are charitable at heart. But it is discouraging, at least uninteresting, to make donations to charity through such large, far reaching, and unwieldy charitable bodies as are usually found operating in the large metropolitan districts.

The Food Drive is confined, so far as giving is concerned, to the campus. Donations are made only to needy persons who are known to the committee. Not money, but food, is solicited for the drive. In short, all the elements so forcibly and often justifiably, directed to the "big city" drives are absent in our campaign to "help those who need help."

Incidentally this is one activity in which every person in the University may take part. There is not a person connected with the school who cannot contribute something; and we urge all to do so. We are sure it will add to your own enjoyment at Christmas time.

Where Do We Play?

At the time the administration made it compulsory for all students to have their photographs attached to their activity books in order to eliminate use of the books by persons other than those to whom they were originally issued, The Hatchet advocated as a compensating gesture on the part of the University, that the basketball games be played in a hall large enough to admit at least a fair percentage of the students.

The Hatchet now reiterates that stand. Not over ten percent of the present student body could get into the H street "tabernacle" for a basketball game. All students have paid for the privilege, but only one in ten can use it if the games are played on campus.

At every game of any consequence in the last three years, played in our gymnasium, literally hundreds of students have been turned away from the doors. In order to get inside the building, not to mention getting a seat, it has often been necessary to get down to the gym as much as a half hour before game time.

The students have shown that they want to see the games since many of them go down to them realizing that they probably will not be able to get into the gymnasium. It is safe to say that many more students would care to attend if they were sure they could see the games.

Since the students want to see the games and have already paid to see them, it looks like something ought to be done to enable them to do so.

While the official schedule giving the scene of local games has not been released yet, it is understood that most of them are tentatively listed for the H street gym.

We think that most of them, at least all major contests, should be played elsewhere and that the Athletic Department should make arrangements accordingly before the official schedule is released.

JUST BETWEEN US

Which Sex Is More Generous

Food Drive to Find Out; Junior Prom Falls in Line With Giving Trend; Hope Held For Late Orchestra

SO it has come to a battle of the generosity of the sexes. We will shortly find out whether men or women excel in practical sympathy and in large giving.

At a meeting of the Food Drive Chairmen of the social fraternities, the lone woman present, who happened to be general sorority chairman, was challenged to produce from her group as much as the men could bring forth. In spite of the discrepancy in numbers, the game was accepted forthwith and Panchel has jumped in to prove that the traditional warmheartedness of women can more than hold its own against male efficiency.

So thoroughly has the spirit of the Drive gripped the campus that scarcely any social event takes place that does not in some way reflect consideration of our responsibility to our less fortunate neighbors during the holiday season. The most notable example to date is that of the barrels of contributions that will grace, and I use the word advisedly, the entrance to an event usually one of the most carelessly festive, namely the Junior Prom. Knowing that the entire attendance will be completely in accord with the project, Paul Brogren of the prom committee feels no hesitation in making an appeal that the prom-trotters bring with them a gift of food or money to add to quite another celebration.

We have the story from Edna Millard of The Hatchet staff, who had it from a taxi-driver who had done a little eavesdropping on the conversation of a disgruntled social chairman, and it may shed a light on a current controversy. Complaints are heard on all sides that our big dances are not graced by orchestras of wide reputation such as seem to be commanded by other nearby schools. The social chairman, it appears, had taken it upon herself to procure the glamour of a "name" for her function, and had written to a very well known leader inquiring how many pieces he would send for the sum of $250, all she could possibly scrape together for music.

Some weeks later came the reply: "Dear madam," it read, "For the sum of $250 we would gladly send you two empty violin cases and a man to carry them."

Such a situation may explain why the Junior Prom does not import a famous band. Hope is held out for a revival of the defunct university orchestra. Members of the late group are already agitating for a revival upon a more stable basis, and since the Band has been dissolved for the season, its membership might augment that of the first society and prove its salvation.

Members of Omicron Delta Kappa experienced a thrill that only an exhibition of loyalty can bring about. A letter from an alumni member in a distant city

Piano recital by Sergei Rachmaninoff at four o'clock this afternoon of Sunday, December 9, in Constitution Hall: (Chopin) Impromptu, Scherzo No. 1, Two Mazurkas, Tarentella, Nocturne, Ballade No. 4, (Beethoven) Sonata Appassionata (Tausig-von Weber) Invitation to the Dance.

MUSIC lovers that packed Constitution Hall to the point of filling the stage, doorways, and steps, as well as every available seat, coughed and rustled their programs through some of the most exquisite Chopin playing that has probably ever been heard in Washington.

Sergei Rachmaninoff is undoubtedly at the summit of his pianistic powers, as was claimed by New York music critics following his Carnegie Hall concert in that city. He has reached that point where his mind has the fullest benefits of its magnificent intellectual maturity, and where at the same time, his technical equipment has not yet begun to decline. Those present at Constitution Hall last Sunday heard that rarity of rarities, a virtuoso who is not merely a producer of musical fireworks, but a true musician as well, and the possessor of a great interpretive mind.

The music was everything that could be wished for, in short, such that the listener dreams that he may one day hear. Keenly and truly, the mystic, pastel beauty of Chopin filled the hall; the sonorous Beethoven Sonata Appassionata was no less a great musical experience for the listener. The Invitation to the Dance was, of course, far lighter in content than the preceding numbers. It provided, however, a touch of gaiety and brilliancy that was not out of place by any means.

I cannot fail to note, however, the disadvantage under which Rachmaninoff played. Fully three times he was forced to stop playing during the pianissimo passages due to the continued rattling of programs.

Satire of 'The Torch-Bearers' Delights First Play Audience

Cue and Curtain Scores Under Direction of Anton Hardt

SOUNDS of un subdued hilarity issued forth from the Wardman Park Theatre on last Thursday and Friday evenings when Cue and Curtain occupied itself with romping and roaring its merry way through the idiotic lines and doubly idiotic actions of "The Torch-Bearers."

Loudest and funniest of all was the much padded and built up Maxine Kahn, who, in the role of Mrs. J. Duro Pampinelli, carried a great deal of the play around on her ample shoulders.

Perhaps, not so loud, but almost as funny was Norma Mickelson, who's Nelly Felt was as natural a flighty old lady as one can hope to see.

In "The Torch-Bearers" Anton Hardt has made an auspicious debut as a Cue and Curtain director. The performance was marked with that mechanical perfection that has come to be expected of the club.

"The Torch-Bearers," if you haven't been reading your Hatchet, is a satire on the little theater movement. It consists of a second act surrounded by a first and third act.

That second act, ah, that second act. It was slapstick comedy, overdone, of course, but the audience roared. It was a burlesque of a behind the scenes action of an amateur dramatic company. The settings wobbled; the stage manager swore; moustaches fell off;

THE Student Council and the Interfraternity Council have been done away with this year at Williams College, Massachusetts.

An annual street auction has been held by students at New York University since 1929. At this auction they seek to sell second hand text books, athletic tickets, and laboratory material to other students.

Students at the University of Missouri are now offered insurance to cover tuition paid for courses they flunk. At Ohio State between $100,000 and $175,000 has been spent for similar insurance.

Letters to The Editor of The Hatchet

Joiner Bemoans Apathetic Attitude of Students in Town Hall Forum Work

To the Editor of The Hatchet:

A MID a glittering array of stuffed shirts, grey beards, and bald heads the Town Hall Forum got under way a week ago last night at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. With Glenn Frank as speaker, and Secretary Wallace and the U. S. Commissioner of Education leading the discussion, the event proved to be the most stimulating intellectual diversion that Washington has ever seen.

Exercising its usual indifference to things intellectual, the George Washington student body stayed away from this event almost en masse. Looking around the crowded auditorium I could discern few faces younger than forty winters. And yet the program is designed to stimulate interest in the crisis in American public affairs. As it stands the program is a challenge to the youth of Washington. If we are not sufficiently interested in the ideas of Glenn Frank, Norman Thomas, Lewis Corey to hear them speak, how can our generation hope to solve the problems to which they have proposed solutions?

The next meeting of the Forum is going to be held in a larger hall. Let's hope it will be large enough to hold five thousand G. W. students.

FRED H. JOINER.

Student Complains About Lack of Cloakroom Space For Evening Law Classes

To the Editor of The Hatchet:

WITH the Law School overflowing with students paying $1 per evening for the privilege of attending and with general indications of influx of funds in that department, I don't see why Dean Van Vleet, Don Wilkins, or some other ranking power on the west side of the yard cannot make some provision for depositing wraps during class.

The average at present is one hook to ten students; wraps cannot be placed on the seats and desk because they are all oc-

Student Is Displeased With Hatchet Critic's Comment on Miss Perkins

To the Editor of The Hatchet:

WHEN I read the write-up of your music critic on the Sunday concert of the National Symphony Orchestra, with Gloria Perkins as guest artist, I was quite surprised, if not disgusted. To compare Miss Perkins, who is only a child violinist, with an older artist, is most unjust. She cannot be expected to produce a tone of exceptional volume—she has not the physical strength. As far as her technique is concerned, that proved itself worthy in the production of her tone, the high one especially; they were all so clear and true.

Intelligent constructive criticism is anticipated by every artist, but to criticize unfairly a child who has done its best and who has done it well, is the next thing to murder, because you crush his hopes and cause him to lose the desire to realize his ambition.

Holiday Minded G. W. Students Begin To Play

Sororities and Fraternities Plan Dances for Vacation Period

By Mary Kunna

With 12 shopping days to Christmas, the air is filled with odor of pine, and minds with tissue and red satin ribbon.

Appropriately enough the first dance scheduled is the Mistletoe Cotillion which the Newman Club is giving Saturday night at the National Women's Country Club. The dance will be formal and Jack Benson's orchestra will provide the music. The same evening the frosh of the Med School will entertain the sophomores at a formal dance to be held at the Roosevelt Hotel.

School's out! And is G. W. going to have fun? That very evening, the twentieth, the Phi Mu's are entertaining at Army and Navy Club. Delta Zeta will dance out at the National Women's Country Club, and the Kappa Sigma and Chi Omega will also entertain.

On the 22nd Sigma Nu will hold a closed formal at the house. Christmas night Pi Beta Phi will dance at the Officers' Club of the Army War College, and on the 27th A. P. Phi will make merry at the National Women's Country Club. New Year's Eve both Sigma Nu and Delta will entertain.

Style Show Is Feature Of Junior Prom Friday

Steel Gauntlet Tapping
Among Highlights of Dance at Willard

By Ruth Brewer

Led by Louise Kramer and Russell Payne, social chairman, the grand march of the Junior Prom will form at midnight Friday evening in the main ballroom of the Willard Hotel.

The main event of the evening will be a male fashion show presented in conjunction with Raleigh Haberdashery. Professional models will be assisted in the fashion exhibit by outstanding campus leaders.

Immediately following the grand march there will be a ceremony by Steel Gauntlet, junior honorary society. The seven men who were tapped by this society at the senior ball last year will be honored. They are: Ed Clark, James Edwards, William Holverson, Newell Lusby, Theodore Pierson, Walter Rhinehart, and Leonard Stevens.

Entertainment features and special numbers will be presented by the orchestra throughout the evening. Frank Stevenson and his ten-piece band are one of the most popular units in the city and well known to G. W. students. They recently assisted in the Man-Tilla Players' presentation of "A Murder Has Been Arranged." A popular blues singer and the stogie deluxe of the orchestra will provide the vocal numbers during the evening.

Tickets for the prom may be purchased for $2.00 per couple or $1.50 stag from members of the committee or at the Cue and Curtain business office.

Russell Payne heads the committee which is composed of Al Hecker, president of the class; Fred Rawlings, publicity chairman, and Paul Brogen, ticket chairman.

Fraternity Parties Aid Xmas Charity Food Drive

Various G. W. fraternities have been cooperating with the Food Drive committee in obtaining food for the Food Drive by giving entertainments.

Acacia will entertain at an indoor picnic and dance Saturday night. Music has been donated by "Pop" Saunders orchestra. Hot dogs and marshmallows will be served. Admission is 25 cents a person.

Saturday evening Kappa Alpha gave a "can" dance for the Food Drive. Admission was six cans of food.

Kappa Sigma entertained at one of its weekly "can" dances Sunday evening.

Lutherans Hold Unique Xmas Party Friday Night

Lutherans will hold a "Noel's Ark" Christmas party Friday at 8:30 p. m., in Christ Lutheran Church, Sixteenth and Gallatin streets. Tickets may be obtained from Gus Kröger or at the door for 35 cents.

Carolyn Becker, Dorothy Eck and Marian Fowler are chairmen of committees in charge of arrangements.

Three Formally Initiated Gamma Eta Gamma formally initiated Harold H. Wisheart, Carlton L. Nau and Kerchival Dean on November 24.

Acacia pledges the formal pledging of Spencer Wood.

Broken Glass No Problem For Director Ruth Atwell

By Ruth Brewer

"Miss Atwell, the girls can't practice basketball in the gym 'cause the floor is covered with broken glass, and the men say it is our hard luck."

"Miss Atwell, the equipment hasn't come yet."

These are just two of the many daily complaints reaching the patient ears of Miss Ruth Atwell, women's physical education department officer.

Formerly physical education director at Stanford, Denison University, and Hollins College, Miss Atwell was an authority when she was placed in charge of George Washington's physical education department six years ago. She and her staff are responsible for the organization of the "Major" department which trains women physical education instructors. From an infant experiment the "major" department here has become one of the country's foremost.

Around her attractive office one may see framed pictures of deserts and camels, scarabs, and robes made of tena-work. These evidences of Egypt are souvenirs of a winter in Cairo 10 years ago. Though on a "pleasure" trip, Miss Atwell gave instruction in American physical culture methods at several schools in Egypt.

Miss Atwell, who was born in Zanesville, Ohio, graduated from the Columbus School for Girls in Columbus, Ohio. She received degrees from Denison University, Wellesley College, and an M. A. from G. W. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

In college, dancing was her chief interest. She also participated in basketball. Miss Atwell organized the Physical Education Association of the District of Columbia, of which she has been president for three years. She served for two years as vice president of the Eastern Society of Directors of Physical Education for Women in colleges and universities.

Personals

Pardon, Have You Met?

Are You a Pi Phi?

An Orchid for Gwin

Amusing inconsistency No. 1001: Paul Brogen, a freshman, is ticket sales chairman for the Junior Prom. Incidentally, it was necessary for a member of The Hatchet staff to introduce the prom committee members to each other when they met on Sunday for the first time.

And when they did meet, three different versions of the story emerged from the meeting, and all differed from the previous ones. Gertrude Castellow, that charming Pi Phi innocent, after meeting Casey Bulow, Kappa pledge, wondered vaguely if the latter wasn't a Pi Phi and then suddenly remembered that Casey went Kappa after all.

That dancing man-about-town, Bob Gwin, made the "scum" column (one similar to this) in the Arlington Hall weekly after he tried to date three girls for the same event in rapid succession.

A certain sorority is planning to play all their rivals by giving favors with engraved fraternity crests to their dates at the Christmas dance. The funny thing is that the anticipated consent of several of the expected dates has not and will not be secured.

Someone hung a wedding ring on The Hatchet bulletin board with a sign attached, "Who owns this ring?" It was claimed by a certain unmarried (?) columnist on the paper.

We would suggest that if a certain Phi Mu doesn't want her engagement known she shift the ring to the other hand.

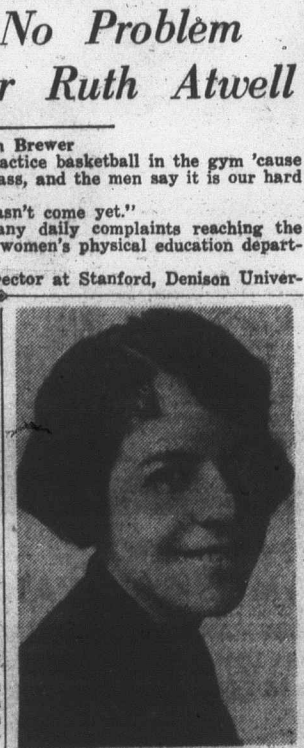

Famous quotations of the week: Amanda Chittum—"You can come out now, Tony."

Ludwig Caminita—"I object, just on the principle of the thing."

Martha—"I suggest calling your columns 'Too Personals.'"

Nancy Ansell—"Professor, that girl next to me wouldn't let me see how to spell 'amoebo.' Wasn't she mean?"

The only unfavorable review of the "Torch-Bearers" was the one in the News signed by J. T. M., May we reveal that this unnecessarily nasty article was written by our own John T. Madigan?

Ruth Atwell

and is now co-director of the Mountain Lake Camp for Girls.

Miss Atwell's leisure is spent in riding and novel reading. Brier, her wire-haired fox terrier, is her constant companion.

Miss Atwell's success may be accounted for by her attitude which she expresses as "making up for the lack of physical equipment at George Washington by enthusiasm of leaders and scope of class program."

Speakers' Group Debates Japan's Manchukuo Policy

Imperialists, Anti-Imperialists Clash in Meeting Thursday

Imperialists and anti-imperialists clashed at Thursday night's session of the Speakers' Congress, which brought together one of the largest gatherings that body has had this year.

Hood Hoover opened the fiery session with a talk on the Japanese policy in Manchukuo, taking the stand against Japan's aggression in the much fought-over territory north of China. Whereupon the rest of the members, as well as several visitors, fell into two factions and waged a bitter verbal war on rights of nations, legality, morally, and economically to pursue a program of imperialism.

Question Put to Vote

The discussion swung over to the Philippine question, and for several minutes and at various times during the rest of the evening William Jennings Bryan became the bone of contention, when one visitor, James Wingo, past editor of The Hatchet, and now Washington correspondent for the Manila Free Press, referred to that gentleman as a "long haired faker."

After heated arguments on everything from the original subject to parliamentary procedure, and even personal thrusts between certain individuals, the question of Japanese aggression was finally voted upon, the majority believing that Japan is justified in her Manchurian policy.

At one point Jack Bunch criticized what he believed a general practice of indiscriminate voting by some of the members, which he termed lack of intelligence. Whereupon Lewis Lloyd made a motion to have him ejected from the room. However, Speaker James Edwards upheld the principle of freedom of speech, and Mr. Bunch was allowed to proceed with his critical remarks.

Leane Elected

A new office of assistant clerk was created, with Helen Leane elected to fill that office. One new member, Nancy Ainsel, was also elected to the Congress Wednesday night.

Headquarters Of Food Drive Moved

Saugstad and probably Dale Prather, students of the University, would take part in two of the eight bouts on the schedule. As an evidence of the interest and expectation with which needy families are looking forward to The Hatchet-Student Council Drive, Sam Futrowsky, director, authorized the publication by The Hatchet of two letters typical of many received during the past several weeks. They are as follows:

Letter Received
"Dear Friends, You were so lovely last year to my children and I. I have five children and not much to get along on, so I wondered, if you give baskets of food this year, if you would give me one."

"My husband doesn't live with us this year, so it would help us this Christmas. Yours gratefully..."

Another: "My dear sir, Could you in any way help me to obtain a little Christmas for my little girls. Unfortunately we have very little, hardly enough to exist. They expect Santa—but I cannot play him. My little girl age 9 is sick in bed, and she talks all day about Christmas. It grieves me, to think I can do nothing. If any of your members can help me over this rut—words cannot express my thanks. I am, sincerely..."

Richardson to Speak to Wesley Club Wed.

"The Gods of India" will be the subject of a talk by Dr. Edward Elliot Richardson, professor of Philosophy, to be given before the Wesley Club Wednesday at 8 p. m. in Columbian House.

Contributions to the Food Drive will be collected and added to the funds raised by the candy sale in Corcoran Hall last night.

Who's Who

Since her matriculation in the University in 1930, Katherine ("Kay") Cutler's forte has been designing. Her ability, coupled with her ever-willingness to help, and a cool, even disposition, has kept her in the limelight for four years. Kay has had a prominent part in all University design work since she entered.

In her freshman year she was active in sports, was on the honor roll, and was a member of W. A. A. The next year she entered the School of Architecture.

In her junior year she was Fine Arts representative on the Student Council. That year she designed the Student Council certificate and the scenery for the Troubadour show. Everyone remembers the moonlit garden scene in this production which Kay alone painted in its entirety.

During her senior year, she reached greater heights of popularity and had the opportunity of giving many expressions of her artistic ability. All of the football program covers last year were her handiwork. The scenery for "Take It Easy," Troubadour's show, was designed and executed by "Kay." She was elected to the Senior Council from the Fine Arts School and re-elected to the Student Council. As the Fiesta's art director, she painted most of the posters and signs seen in the Midway, and did the linoleum cut used on the program. To culminate a brilliant and helpful four years, she was elected secretary of the June, 1934, graduating class.

Last summer she was among those ardent G. W. -ites who helped make the Roadside Theater a success. This year she has returned to G. W. for a Master's degree, and has served as chairman of the Alumni Committee of the Co-Op campaign. The effective scenery which was seen in the One and Curran's last production, was designed by Katherine, and she designed the 1934 Food Drive insignia.

For her activities in Troubadours she was elected to Alpha Eta Epsilon, national dramatic fraternity. Her social sorority is Phi Mu.

All-Star Band Plays at Game

Colonial Musicians Vie With Others at Charity Contest

While presenting a pair of all-star teams at the much ballyhooed All-District—All-Alabama game, the staggers of the function unknowingly presented an all-star band as well.

All the bands were invited but the Marine Band didn't show up. The Almas Temple Band was there in full strength, however.

The uniform of that organization consists of a bright fez (with tassels), and uniforms that appear to be a colorful hodge-podge of symbolical designs in every known shade upon a mustard color background. We mean they were in full strength.

About thirty members of the Colonial Band showed up and seated themselves on the other side of the field just to be unsocial, or divide the effect or something. But it was not to be just the Colonial Band. About eight members of the University of Maryland Band paid a visit to Clark Griffith's little arena; but they must not have been able to stand the Almas uniforms for they arrayed themselves with the G. W. men.

Catholic University appeared up to this time to be neglected. In the between-the-halves period, however, the director of the C. U. band was seen marching with the Almas Temple boys who had joined up with the other bandmen to stage a performance under the leadership of Colonial Drum Major Elmer Klavens.

This musically chumminess continued until after many grumbles were registered by the football players who contended they had a game to play, and Elmer was regrettably forced to separate the lads again.

sending, respectively, drama organizations, the Fiesta, and all others, whose only financial dealings have to do with dances.

Just how the committee will go about its work is as yet a matter of speculation, but it is thought that after full investigation and discussion they may be asked to make a recommendation to the Student Council, and that such recommendation might include the appointment of a permanent, non-political sub-committee of the Student Council, which would serve as a regulatory body over the activities concerned.

Under such a plan, organizations might be required to submit to the committee for approval a prospectus of their financial and publicity arrangements two weeks in advance of the date they were to go into effect, and a resume of the results two weeks after they had taken place.

CAMEL'S COSTLIEST TOBACCO

NEVER GET ON YOUR NERVES!

By JOHN BUSICK

It sure looked good to see Johnny Fenlon stepping around out there with all his old time speed Saturday. Took me back to his playing days here, rapidly fading before the march of Pop Time but probably never to be forgotten by those who saw him. Johnny's beautiful dashes and bullet-like heaves were the high spots in the charity fray, despite the presence of "Hurricane" Cain, "Pooley" Hubert and other 'Bama satellites.

Those who have attempted to compare Johnny and "Tuffy" Leemans got something of a shock. Idle chatter has favored the latter, probably because he has been in action this season and time has taken the edge off Johnny's performances.

I'm not prepared to say that either is the better. They play entirely different types of football. Brittle-boned John who came here as a star basketball player and just "happened" to go out for football, was forced to spend lots of time on the bench nursing injuries after tough games. "Tuffy," a great natural athlete, with a physique that seemingly can't be hurt, has never been benched by injuries for any length of time.

This represents the only difference in the two, in my mind. Johnny, the faster and one of the best passers ever to toss 'em in this neighborhood, must bow to Leemans' punting and great defensive work.

"Tuffy" gets the nod on general

Swimmers Face "Y" Again Friday

Rote Is Pleased Over Showing; Carter, Dorman, and Porter Shine

By Bill Hancock

In an attempt to reverse last Friday's score, the Colonial swimmers will reengage the Men's Y at the Shoreham pool Friday night at 7:30.

The practice meet was the Buff and Blue's first splash in real competition this year, and despite the imposing 44-22 score run up against them, Coach Max Rote was not upset.

"The 'Y' is stiff competition for any one, but with last week's meet under their belt, I expect a material change in the score," said Rote. Rote was particularly gratified with the condition of Carter, former Southern Conference title holder, Dorman and Porter, though not winning their events, also gave impressive showings.

The team is rounding into shape, and by January, when the regular season starts, the tankmen should be in their prime.

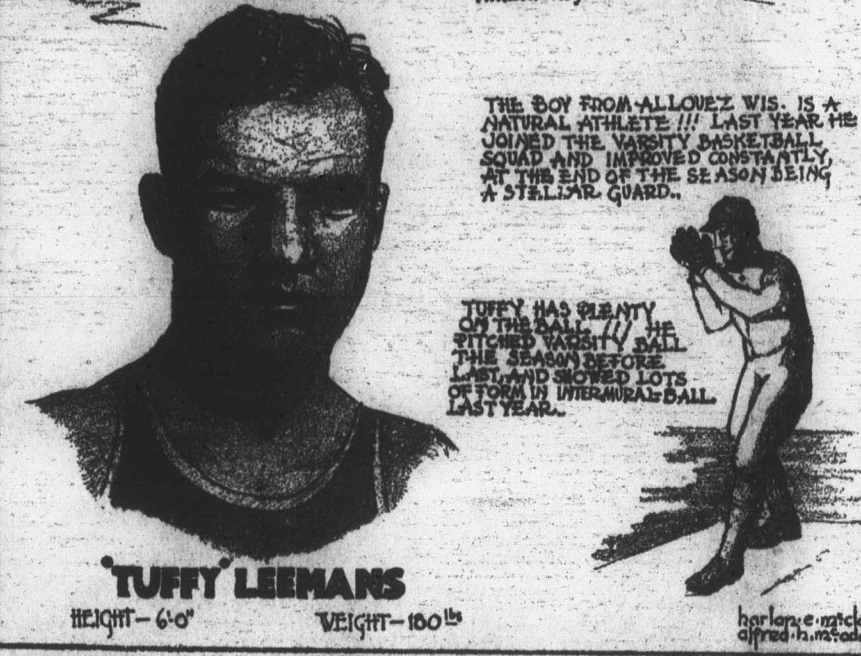

Last week the short order inter-scholastic events were used, but Friday the regular inter-collegiate system will be used, which may aid the Colonials in coming out on top.

Parsons Cancels Wireless Tilts

Cocher Finds Telegraphic Matches Do More Harm Than Good

Coach Frank Parsons, Jr. has announced that between February 1st and March 1st the target snipers will not fire any telegraphic matches as has been the practice in former years. Only the regularly scheduled matches with the league teams and shoulder-to-shoulder matches that may be booked with challenge teams will be fired.

This departure from schedule making practices of previous years has been undertaken by Parsons in the belief that telegraphic matches during the regular season are more injurious than helpful to the success of the team. High hopes are still being entertained of having a freshman team. About 25 men are out for practice. All of those men who are in condition to justify training for other positions other than standing have been working on those positions.

Tennessee Defeats La. State By Last Minute Deception

Meeting Huey Long by proxy Saturday at Baton Rouge, the Volunteers of Tennessee defeated Louisiana State, 19-13. It was State's second consecutive loss, having bowed to Tulane, 13-12, the previous week.

Seago, and "Colonel" Yates, whose touchdown beat the proteges of Pilee, made the Tigers two scores. Tennessee scored on a brilliantly executed play in the closing minutes of play with the score tied 13-13. Vaughan, half, faked the ball to another back, tucked it under his arm and back-stepped a few paces. Then Vaughan heaved a long pass to Ray Rose at the far side of the field. The play went for a touchdown. Michal's kicking was superb throughout the game.

State meets Oregon Saturday. Saturday Denver plays the University of Hawaii at Honolulu. Although Hawaii won, 7-6 last year, the Pioneer chances look good this year.

Many Replacements Available Next Year for Parrish, Strayer, and Clark

Statistics, all-American teams, and a few post-season games are practically all that remain of another football season, but while schedules are being made-up and plans concocted for next year, it might not be a bad idea to see just who "Possum" Jim will have on the firing line next fall.

The shoes of Captain Ed Clark, Bill Parrish, and Hank Strayer must be filled. Other changes may be made, but these are the primary tasks to be done by the coaching staff.

Prather for Clark
It's likely that Dale Prather and Arnold Benefield will get the posts vacated by Clark and Parrish. Three men will battle it out for Strayer's job. They are Dave Parrick, who has the upper hand, Charlie Mann, and Harold "Baby Face" Brickell.

Prather and Ed "Killer" Watts will be the outstanding men vying for Clark's job but the former apparently has the edge. Watts, a great defensive player, lacks the agility and power of Prather on the offense. The latter should make one of G. W.'s finest linemen when he reaches his peak.

Walsh will have another dependable end combination next fall. Strayer's chief duty was to pull out of the line on running plays. His speed made him invaluable at this and his shoes will be hard to fill. Parrack is the most experienced of the trio but either Brickell or Mann may come along fast enough to displace him later in the season.

Thank You!

Ex-Captain Carlin Is Goat As His Two Blunders Lead to Scores

By Nelson Barnhart
Putting the brilliant running of Johnny Fenlon to naught, two "gift" touchdowns by Lee Carlin enabled the Alabama-All Stars to easily defeat the Washington-All Stars, 21-6, at Griffith Stadium Saturday. A blocked kick provided the other marker.

Ex-Colonial Star Fenlon stole the show with two sensational runs. Receiving a kick-off late in the second quarter, he raced 62 yards to be stopped by the Alabama safety, "Hurricane" Cain, on his 38-yard line. But "Soapy" was not to be denied. Receiving the kick-off starting the second half, he twisted and ran 90 yards through the Red Elephants for his team's lone score.

Carlin Goat
But before this, ex-captain Carlin had safely placed the game in the hands of the enemy by two blunders that made him the undisputed goat of the game. From D. C.'s 31-yard line Teale passed a pass to Smith on the goal line. Carlin was there to knock it down, but just deflected it into the arms of Smith who grounded it for the first touchdown.

In the last minutes of the half,

Phi Sig Beats Sigma Nu, 20-18, In Furious Extra Period Battle For Greek Basketball Crown

By Sid Carroll
Phi Sigma Kappa won the Interfraternity Basketball title last night by defeating Sigma Nu 20-18 in a most exciting overtime game. A scant 200 witnessed the contest. Bill Everett, Phi Sig center, brought victory to his team with a nifty snow-bird with less than a moment to play. The game started off sluggishly and both teams only managed to make a foul shot during the first quarter.

A foul shot by both teams plus another snow-bird by Everett tied the game again as the whistle ended the third period.

Floyd Stehman, Phi Sig forward, broke the tie beginning the fourth quarter with his foul shot. But it went for naught as Harold Brown made a foul moment later. Jack Olverson again gave the Phi Sigs the lead with a field goal late in the period. Everett Russell, stellar Snake guard, came to life and knotted the score with a beautiful pot shot as the game ended. It was his first field goal of the evening.

Russell opened the extra period with a field goal and Jake Olverson retaliated with one from the corner of the court. His kid brother, Walter, sank a shot from the foul line to give Phi Sig the lead once more.

Paul Swofford tied the score again with a neat pot shot. Then came Bill Everett's game winning shot. Phi Sigma Kappa gained the finals by defeating both Sigma Chi and Sigma Phi Epsilon, after the Sigma Chi five had thrown League A into a three-way tie last Monday by defeating S. P. E.

Drawings made after the game, placed the Phi Sigs against S. P. E. Sigma Chi drew a bye.

A hard fighting Phi Sigma Kappa team defeated the S. P. E. quint 18-14 in a game which offered many thrills. The score saw-sawed back and forth several times throughout the contest. During the first period both teams played slowly, and the quarter ended 5-4 in favor of the Phi Sigs. In the second period S. P. E. tied the score twice but were trailing 12-10 at the half.

Debate Interest Keen as Contest Plans Are Laid

Veterans and New Candidates Afford Wide Range of Team Selection

This year's men's debate season promises to be one of the University's most interesting, as plans for intercollegiate contests are well under way. Members of last year's squad, plus many new candidates, afford a wide range of selection, and the new method of picking teams through participation in debates with various civic and church groups throughout the city affords the squad the advantages of competitive opportunity.

Although the final schedule has not yet been completed, the list of schools which the squad will meet definitely includes the University of Puerto Rico, Princeton, and William and Mary. Coach Roberts announces that the full schedule will be published shortly.

The subject for debate in the coming series is international embargoes on munitions. The importance of the question is accentuated by the current Senate investigation of the arms industry and similar inquiries promised by Great Britain and other powers. The squad is at present engaged in an extensive study of disarmament, munitions, embargoes, and arms conventions.

Men interested in intercollegiate debating should attend the meeting of the squad which will be held Thursday evening at eight o'clock in Corcoran 16.

Council Report Due Next Sunday

Alabama Defeats District Stars

Bama's third marker came in the closing minutes when three or four linemen swarmed through to block Bomba's kick and Smith picked it up to run 35 yards for the final marker.

Editor Addresses Group on Peace

Dr. Arthur Deerin Call, editor of World Affairs and secretary of the World Peace Society, talked on "Peace in the Americas," before the class in current Hispanic-American affairs last week. His discussion dealt with "possibilities of world peace hurdles" in Latin America and North America.

"What men demand is not peace," Dr. Call stated. "They can always have peace by paying a price—submission. What men want is justice and they will have it, and if need be they will fight for it." He believes that peace, rightfully understood; that is, the settlement of international disputes without resort to arms; is possible in certain groups of states. Dr. Call pointed out the work of the Constitutional Convention, which resulted in our Constitution and in a government of laws and not of men, as an example of a successful experiment and a solution of the problems of war and peace.

Sport Axe

In a backfield where one man does all the work, as "Tuffy" did here this fall, the Belgian Hare is the ideal back. In a backfield where there is someone else to do the kicking and line plunging, Fenlon is at his best.

Teamed together they would have given "Possum" Jim one of those combinations that comes to a coach once in a life-time, if then.

BOB CONSIDINE, still basking in the sunlight of Mr. Pegler's story in the September Esquire and doing nicely, thank you, bends over backwards to give Borries an edge on "Tuffy" on the basis of the former's play in the Army-Navy game.

The esteemed Robert writes that "Buzz" provided the spark that pushed Dornin down to ground one of Clark's punts on the Cadet 1/2-yard stripe. Also that Leemans lacked this spark and failed to censor his mates for their miserable playing at times.

He says that there is nothing to choose between the two mechanically, but that "Borries' sharp tongue and self-endowed leadership would give him the edge on the gridiron."

He doesn't explain this: Fourth quarter, third down, ball in Navy's possession on the Army 40, Navy leading 3-0. The GREAT Borries calls for a pass. Army intercepts, works its way down to the Navy 7-yard line. Fortunately (for Borries) Buckler is out with injuries and the surprised Cadets go to pieces, throw two passes; both fail and the Navy lead is safe.

Had Army scored (it probably would have with Buckler playing) the GREAT Borries would never outlive his unexcusable error.

The Colonial field generals, who took quite a beating from Bob in the season just passed, at least managed to keep their mistakes in the category that could be listed to inexperience.

Just another Monday morning effort, Robert, and a sad one at that.
